

Thursday, February 5, 2009

More

News, Quotes, Companies, Videos

OPINION JOURNAL

Today's Paper Video Columns Blogs Graphics Newsletters & Alerts NewJournal Community

Log In Register for FREE

HOME U.S. WORLD BUSINESS MARKETS TECH PERSONAL FINANCE LIFE & STYLE OPINION CAREERS REAL ESTATE SMALL BUSINESS
LEISURE & ARTS LETTERS TO THE EDITOR DISCUSSION GROUPS POLITICAL DIARY COLUMNS FORUMS

TOP STORIES IN Opinion

1 of 10
A Republican Fannie Mae

2 of 10
George Melloan: Why 'Stimulus' Will M...

3 of 10
Joseph Lieberman: Afghanistan Will Be...

Of

OPINION: WONDER LAND | FEBRUARY 5, 2009

What Is Congress Stimulating?

By DANIEL HENNINGER

What's most striking is how much "stimulus" money will be spent on the government itself.

Article

Video

MORE IN OPINION »

Email Printer Friendly Share: Yahoo Buzz Text Size

Contrary to conventional Beltway wisdom, the House Republicans' zero votes for the Obama presidency's stimulus "package" is looking like the luckiest thing to happen to the GOP's political fortunes since Ronald Reagan switched parties. If the GOP line holds, the party could win back much of the goodwill it dissipated with its big-government adventures the past eight years.

Face the Nation, Karin Cooper

'How big?' senator, is not the question.

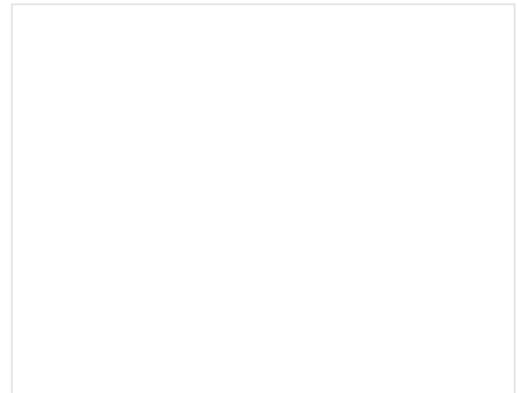

For starters, notwithstanding the new president's high approval rating, his stimulus bill (ghost-written by Nancy Pelosi) has been losing altitude with public opinion by the day. People are nervous.

Then after Tim Geithner scampered through the tax minefield and into a Cabinet seat, the Daschle tax bomb went off, laying open for public view the world of Washington's pay-for-favors that makes the average Wall Street banker look like Little Bo-Peep.

Conventional wisdom holds that the Republican refuseniks shot themselves in the foot by staying off the House stimulus package. Real wisdom holds that congressional Republicans should consider putting distance between themselves and anything Democratic just now. The party's crypts are opening.

The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, with an apparently recession-proof cash hoard, is running radio ads against 28 House Republicans. The theme of the ads is "Putting Families First."

Families first? The only family standing at the front of the stimulus pay line is the federal family. Read the bill.

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL
STAY CONNECTED 24/7
VIA EMAIL NEWSLETTERS
& ALERTS FROM WSJ.COM
FREE Registration
Sign up Today

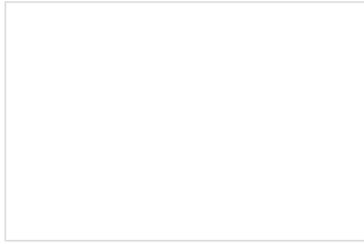

Recent Columns

- Daniel Henninger: What Is Congress Stimulating?
- The Geithner Exception
- Obama at History's 'Hinge Point'

About Daniel Henninger

Daniel Henninger is deputy editor of The Wall Street Journal's editorial page. Mr. Henninger joined Dow Jones in 1971 as a staff writer for the National Observer. He became an editorial-page writer for the Journal in 1977, arts editor in 1978 and editorial features editor in 1980. He was appointed assistant editor of the editorial page in 1983 and chief editorial writer and senior assistant editor in October 1986, with daily responsibility for the "Review & Outlook" columns. In November 1989 he became deputy editor of the editorial page.

Mr. Henninger was a finalist for a Pulitzer Prize in editorial

Wonder Land columnist Daniel Henninger asks why our government needs stimulus money. (Feb. 5)

Check your PC's virus program, then pull down the nearly 700 pages of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act. Dive into its dank waters and what is most striking is how much "stimulus" money is being spent on the government's own infrastructure. This bill isn't economic stimulus. It's self-stimulus.

(All sums here include the disorienting zeros, as in the bill.)

Title VI, Financial Services and General

Government, says that "not less than $6,000,000,000 shall be used for construction, repair, and alteration of Federal buildings." There's enough money there to name a building after every Member of Congress.

The Bureau of Land Management gets $325,000,000 to spend fixing federal land, including "trail repair" and "remediation of abandoned mines or well sites," no doubt left over from the 19th-century land rush.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention are getting $462,000,000 for "equipment, construction, and renovation of facilities, including necessary repairs and improvements to leased laboratories."

The Opinion Journal Widget

Download Opinion Journal's widget and link to the most important editorials and op-eds of the day from your blog or Web page.

The National Institute of Standards gets $357,000,000 for the "construction of research facilities." The Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration gets $427,000,000 for that. The country is in an economic meltdown and the federal government is redecorating.

The FBI gets $75,000,000 for "salaries and expenses." Inside the $6,200,000,000 Weatherization Assistance Program one finds "expenses" of $500,000,000. How many bureaucrats does it take to "expense" a half-billion dollars?

The current, Senate-amended version now lists "an additional amount to be deposited in the Federal Buildings Fund, $9,048,000,000." Of this, "not less than $6,000,000,000 shall be available for measures necessary to convert GSA facilities to High-Performance Green Buildings." High performance?

Sen. Tom Coburn is threatening to read the bill on the floor of the Senate. I have a better idea: Read it on "Saturday Night Live."

Such as the amendment to Section 2(3)(F) of the Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act, which will permit payments to guys employed to repair "recreational vessels." Under Incentives for New Jobs, we find a credit to employ what the bill calls "disconnected youths," defined as "not readily employable by reason of lacking a sufficient number of basic skills."

President Obama is saying the bill will "create or save" three million new jobs. The bad news is your new boss is Uncle Sam.

Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell says, "Everybody agrees that there ought to be a stimulus package. The question is: How big and what do we spend it on?"

Sen. McConnell should reconsider. He knows that the Bush-GOP spending spree cost them control of Congress in 2006. Thus, "How big?" is not the question his party's constituents (or horrified independents) want answered. This is a chance for the GOP to climb down from its big-government dunce chair. Until that reversal is achieved, there is no hope for this party.

I think that behind the bill's sinking public support is the sense that it won't work and its cost is dangerous. The bill's design, an embarrassment to Rube Goldberg, is flawed. Even were one to grant the Keynesians their argument, this is a very mushy, weak-form stimulus.

Rather than try to "reform" it, which won't happen, Sen. McConnell should ask President Obama to pull it and start over. One guesses that privately the president's economic team would thank the senator. If he won't pull it, the Senate Republicans should walk away from it. This bill is a bomb. It may wreck more than it saves.

writing in 1987 and 1996, and shared in the Journal's Pulitzer Prize in 2002 for the paper's coverage of the attacks on September 11. In 2004, he won the Eric Breindel Journalism Award for his "Wonder Land" column. He won the Gerald Loeb Award for commentary in 1985. In 1998 he received the Scripps Howard Foundation's Walker Stone Award for editorial writing, for editorials on a range of issues, including the International Monetary Fund, presidential politics and cloning. He won the 1995 American Society of Newspaper Editors' Distinguished Writing Award for editorial writing, and he was a finalist in that award in 1985, 1986 and 1993. A native of Cleveland, Mr. Henninger graduated from Georgetown University with a bachelor's degree from the School of Foreign Service.

Email: henninger@wsj.com.

People Who Viewed This Also Viewed...

On WSJ.com

In My Network

The 'Guarantee' Morgue

Burton G. Malkiel: Congress Wants a Trade War

Democrats Try Trickle-Down Economics

The GOP Has a Dumb Mortgage Idea

Tom Daschle's Washington

Video

Jon Friedman
MediaWeb:
Bloomberg TV
1:30

A Stimulus for Congress
3:00

Obama Goes Green
5:00

More in Opinion

A Republican Fannie Mae

George Melloan: Why 'Stimulus' Will Mean Inflation

Joseph Lieberman: Afghanistan Will Be a Quagmire for al Qaeda

Obama's Trade Deflection

Toys for Congress

Most Popular

Read Emailed Video Commented

1. Court Filing Details Madoff Victims
2. In Merrill Deal, U.S. Played Hardball
3. Panetta Earned \$700,000 In Fees
4. Opinion: Daniel Henninger: What Is Congress Stimulating?
5. Pilots Considered Airports Before River

Most Read Articles Feed

Write to henninger@wsj.com

Please add your comments to the Opinion Journal forum.

Printed in The Wall Street Journal, page A11

MORE IN OPINION

Email Printer Friendly Order Reprints Share:

Related Articles and Blogs from WSJ.com

Obama, Stimulus Proposals Enjoy Broad Backing in Poll JAN 15, 2009

SCHIP: Doctor-Owned Hospitals Win; Tobacco Companies Lose FEB 04, 2009

McCain Urges Supporters to Sign Petition Opposing Stimulus FEB 03, 2009

Obamas Read to Second Graders, President Plugs Stimulus Bill FEB 03, 2009

Related News From the Web

Obama seeks action as parties try to pare stimulus FEB 05, 2009 money.aol.com

Obama responds to GOP critics of stimulus bill FEB 04, 2009 news.aol.com

Money for nothing won't grow the economy - The Boston Globe FEB 01, 2009 boston.com

Analysis: GOP gambles in opposing Obama stimulus JAN 29, 2009 news.aol.com

Editors' Picks

Songwriters Take On the Recession

Why Carolina Owns College Hoops

Contemporary Auctions Bring Jitters

Abe Lincoln as He Really Was

Homes Near World-Class Restaurants

BACK TO TOP

Search News, Quotes, Companies

SEARCH

Log In / Register to access your WSJ.com Account

Help & Information Center:

- Help
- Customer Service
- Contact Us
- New on WSJ.com
- Tour the new Journal

About:

- News Licensing
- Advertising
- Conferences
- About Dow Jones
- Privacy Policy - Updated
- Subscriber Agreement & Terms of Use - Updated
- Copyright Policy
- Jobs at WSJ.com

WSJ.com:

- Site Map
- Home
- U.S.
- World
- Business
- Markets
- Market Data
- Tech
- Personal Finance
- Life & Style
- Opinion
- Autos
- Careers
- Real Estate
- Small Business
- Corrections

Tools & Formats:

- Today's Paper
- Video Center
- Graphics
- Columns
- Blogs
- Alerts
- Newsletters
- Mobile
- Podcasts
- RSS Feeds
- Journal Community
- Forums

Digital Network

- WSJ.com
- Marketwatch.com
- Barrons.com
- AllThingsD.com
- FiLife.com
- BigCharts.com
- Virtual Stock Exchange
- WSJ Asia
- WSJ Europe
- Foreign Language Editions:
 - WSJ Chinese
 - WSJ Portuguese
 - WSJ Spanish